Division

[REDACTED]

The suggestor proposes the establishment of a stock control and fiscal system whereby requisitions for small quantities of material can be withdrawn from various stock accounts instead of the placement of many small quantity purchase orders.

Appraisal of Suggestor's Office:

The Logistics Office has informed the Committee that action designed to correct the situation reflected in subject suggestion was initiated by this Office in November 1952 and is now in the process of implementation. The Logistics Office states that the suggestion makes no contribution to improvement beyond that already in process of implementation. Files attached for Committee reference.

D. Notes:

Recommendation for award of this suggestion appears to be indicated in view of the above appraisal. A letter of appreciation expressing the Committee's interest in the constructive thinking and initiative shown by the suggestor is recommended.

Employee Suggestion No. 141

1. Recommend rejection.
2. Action designed to correct the situation reflected in subject suggestion was initiated by this Office in November 1952 and is now in the process of implementation. Under the presently approved procedure, all common items for the Agency henceforth will be procured from a general fund established in consideration of the requirements of all CIA elements. Accordingly, common items subsequently may be issued to any using element of the Agency, regardless of the account or allotment from which other operational expenses of the organizational element concerned are paid.
3. The establishment of stock fund accounting whereby centrally procured items could be issued to using elements on a reimbursable basis was considered by this Office approximately two years ago and was dropped because of rejection of the proposal by the Agency Budget Office.
4. The situation reflected in subject suggestion was recognized by this Office and was in process of correction prior to receipt of the suggestion. Suggestion makes no contribution to improvement beyond that already in process of implementation.
